Parent Language Promise-Commitment Information

The Sasiwaans Immersion School, run by the Anishinaabe Language Revitalization Department (ALRD), is a unique educational program for children aged 2 to 4 years old. The school was established to address the critical loss of the original language spoken by the Saginaw Chippewa Indian Tribe and aims to ensure that the sacred language is learned and preserved for future generations.

Enrolling your child in Sasiwaans means committing to learning the language alongside them. Parents can attend outreach classes and are encouraged to learn with extended family to increase fluency. The program offers a safe and inspiring environment where students are immersed in Anishinabemowin instruction.

By enrolling your child in our school, you agree to the following important commitments...

1. To commit to learning Anishinaabemowin language to help your child become a bilingual speaker.
2. To review the language information provided by your child's teachers so that you can learn and reinforce daily phrases.
3. To participate in Anishinaabemowin Outreach Classes and/or activities throughout the school year. Complete 12 hours of language acquisition by the end of the third week of January, and 12 additional hours to be completed by the end of the school year, totaling 24 hours.
4. To reinforce the use of Anishinaabemowin with your child in your home and community.

Here are some ways to obtain language hours:

1. Schedule an appointment with Isabelle Osawamick, Anishinaabe Outreach Specialist, by calling her at 989-775-4110 or emailing her at iosawamick@sagchip.org. You can choose a time slot of 30 minutes up to 1 hour.
